

LOTF TEST HELPER

Please bring a pencil, this is a scantron test. The test will consist of True and False, multiple choice, matching, a quote section, and short answers.

ORDER OF EVENTS:

Know what happens in each chapter of the story. I will provide you with a list of events and you will have to put them in the order that they happened.

CHARACTERS:

Be able to provide physical/character traits for each of the following people.

Simon

Maurice

Piggy

Boy with the birthmark

Ralph

Roger

Percival Wemys Madison

Naval Officer

Samneric

Jack

Psychology Terms- Id, Ego, Super Ego. Know what these terms mean and be able to identify a character that fits this model and why they fit the model.

Leadership Styles- Know the 4 leadership styles Laissez-Faire, Democratic, Beurotratic, and Autocratic. Know what each style is like and characters that seem to lead or follow with a particular model.

Stanford Prison Study- Be able to describe this study and how it relates to the book.

Milgrim Experiment- Be able to describe this study and how it relates to the book.

Allegory- This book is considered to be an allegory, why?

Theme and Symbolism:

The majority of the test will be multiple choice and T/F questions to check your understanding of the novel. Most of the questions will be factual, but other questions may check your understanding of the symbolism portrayed throughout the book. Characters, objects, and even the island, have hidden meaning. Think about William Golding's life and his reasoning for writing the book.

Character Quotes: There is a rather lengthy quote section on the final test. I do not expect that you will remember all of the quotes specifically, but you should be able to infer what character is speaking based on context clues in the quote and the tone of the quote. Your character wheels and knowledge of the characters will be very helpful.

Beginning Notes: Be sure that you look over your notes from the first few days. There might be a few notes about William Golding.
